

at a glance

CAN SPRAY FOAM MAKE A HOME TOO AIRTIGHT?

There's no such thing as "too tight" but spray foamed homes need mechanical ventilation.

A home does need air exchange, but with mechanical ventilation, we can control and filter the air.

When installed correctly, spray foam delivers an airtight seal, resulting in a tight building envelope.

Paired with appropriate mechanical ventilation, a home still has air exchange.

BACK TO THE ARTICLE

REQUEST MY FREE QUOTE

SOUTH CENTRAL SERVICES
INSULATION